Stories of Monsoon

Monsoon season has many connotative meanings. It has mixed feelings of hope and despair.

The monsoon season brings with it clouds, thunder, rain, a ray of hope, inspiration and abundance of nature and greenery for us. It is celebration of Mother Nature's force to quench the thirst of dried land.

Many also feel the fangs of monsoon due to the climatic changes, dense urbanization and other factors.

The pitiful sights also leave behind daunting impressions. None the less, monsoon season is a very important season and as such finds mention in the art, culture, literature, architecture, stories of India.

Keeping in view the importance of monsoon, we, in the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication, Dharmmanand Uniyal Government Degree College Narendranagar, Uttarakhand invite entries from photography enthusiasts of 18 years of age and above from all over India to send their original stories of the monsoon as captured through their camera's lenses for the photography competition. The best three entries would be given a prize and all the participants who qualify the minimum criteria would be awarded a certificate of participation.

So what are you waiting for! Hold your camera, bang on and paint your stories through your camera's view finder and sent it to us at photographygcdnn@gmail.com.
